Our Learning This Week:

Reading: This week, first grade were being rock stars at independent and partner reading while first grade was doing assessments. Next week, guided reading groups will be back to normal and we will continue learning about characters in stories.

Writing: Next week, we will begin our unit on opinion writing. Thank you to those who brought in 5 items for the collection! This is going to help the students start their pieces.

Math: We are almost done with module 3! A module 4 letter will be sent home to let you know what we will be learning! Module 3 was a shorter module, so next week we will be taking our module 3 assessment on measuring. The students really loved this module!
