IMPORTANT UPCOMING DATES:

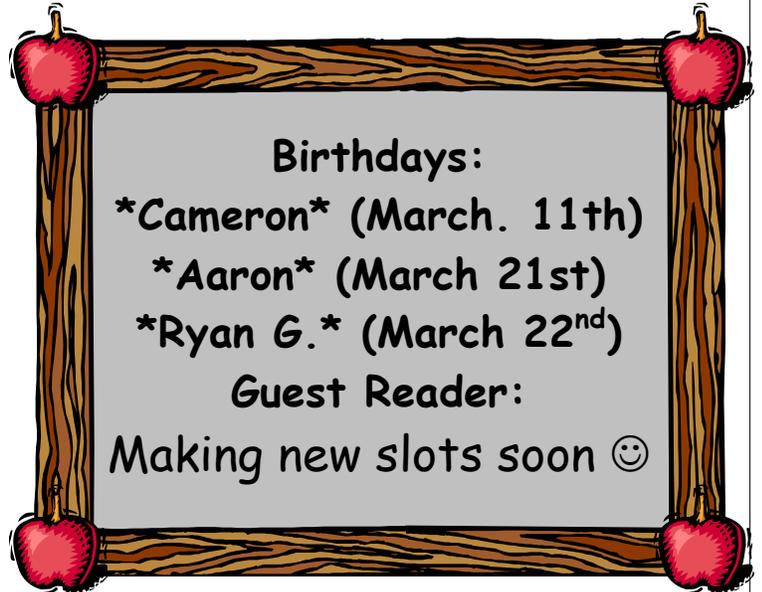

Our Learning This Week:

Reading: This week, we started talking about how to be the boss of our reading by using strategies such as: stopping at the first sign of trouble, trying something, trying something else to get the job done, and doing a triple check. Students learned about these strategies when they come to tricky words and how to problem solve them by not giving up and trying everything they can to help them solve words! We are also starting a new standard on similarities and differences. We started that off by comparing classmates to one another to try to find similarities and differences with their peers!

Writing: Students are starting a new unit called writing reviews! They have the opportunity to write a review on their favorite video game, movie, book, food place, etc.! They are the reviewers and have to convince their reader why they should consider one of those options! They are super excited about this unit since it is their opinion and they can choose what to write about!

Math: Math assessments for mid-module 4 went home this week! Our end of module assessment will be coming up in a couple of weeks. Students have been focusing on making tens the quick ten way as well as using their RDW strategy for word problems. (Read the problem, draw a picture, and write a statement with units).
