

My head does not hurt!

My head does not hurt. I am not sure why I think it does. I know that if I am sick, with a fever or throwing up, that my teachers will take me to the nurse. If I feel I need to go to the nurse, my teacher may let me, but if the nurse takes my temperature and says that I am not sick, I will come right back to class. I know that the nurse is a busy lady, and that only sick kids (who are throwing up or have a fever) can stay in her office. The rest of the kids need to stay in their classrooms, so that they can learn. I am not sure why I think my head is hurting, but I am not sick. I actually feel good, and am ready to have a great rest of the day!
